PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

I'm a detail-oriented and security-focused Full Stack Web Developer with a strong background in Django, PostgreSQL, and DevOps. I thrive in solving complex technical challenges, whether it's securing web applications, optimizing system performance, or automating workflows. I approach problems strategically, ensuring efficiency without compromising security. My experience spans web development, cybersecurity, cloud infrastructure, and networking, allowing me to build scalable and resilient systems. I also enjoy continuous learning and staying ahead of emerging security threats and technologies. Passionate about problem-solving and committed to delivering innovative solutions that enhance application performance and security.
